Rappel down the Hyatt downtown for charity

BY MICHAEL STETZ
FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 2010 AT 10 A.M.

It's not selling cookies, this fundraiser. It seems more suited for, say, Navy SEALs.

The challenge: Rappel 357 feet down the Manchester Grand Hyatt Hotel in downtown. Donors sponsor your, um, trip.

The money goes to Kids Included Together - or KIT - a nonprofit that supports recreational, child development and youth development programs.

The event takes place on Saturday, Nov. 6, beginning at 8 a.m. Friends and family can cheer from below at the poolside Landing Party, which will feature food and live music.

Last year's event, the first, raised more than $50,000.

There are two ways to help the cause. You can rappel or sponsor someone who has the guts to take on the challenge.

Participants need to get $1,000 in pledges to secure a place on, hopefully, a secure rope. You do get the chance to practice from a lesser height.

And then, well, you're off.
